

SMILE Program

The judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit have adopted a general requirement that parents in divorce, custody, and visitation (parenting time) cases attend a short class on the effects of divorce or parental conflict on children. In this Circuit the judges have chosen to use the SMILE Program, which stands for "Start Making It Livable for Everyone." SMILE was originally developed by a group of Michigan courts and "Friend of the Court" programs (called Court Appointed Special Advocates, or CASA, here in South Dakota). SMILE is now used by many states and jurisdictions across the United States, and was last updated in 2006.

The SMILE program is offered at Hudson Hall in Spearfish, and at Catholic Social Services and Lutheran Social Services in Rapid City. Please see 2011 schedule for dates and times of classes. The program usually takes less than two hours and involves a video, an information booklet, and a short group discussion. A fee of $20 is charged at the door to cover the expense of the video, the booklet, and the facilitator's time.

Parents are strongly encouraged to complete the program in person at one of the offered evening sessions. If you cannot attend the sessions in either Spearfish or Rapid City because of work reasons or you live far away, you can ask the judge to allow you to attend a SMILE program at one of the many other courts using the program around the United States. An internet search on the phrase "SMILE divorce" will list many other locations. The program is certainly most effective in person, but if you absolutely cannot complete the SMILE program in person for some exceptional reason, you can ask a judge to allow you to complete the program online, here. At the links below you will find (1) the video, (2) the booklet, and a verification form that must be signed by you and one other person to verify that you watched the entire video and reviewed all the pages of the booklet.
