

JUDICIAL QUALIFICATIONS COMMISSION

The authority for creation of the Judicial Qualifications Commission is granted by the South Dakota Constitution.

The seven-member commission is comprised of two circuit court judges, elected by the judicial conference; three members of the bar practicing law but no more than two of whom may be of the same political party and who must be appointed by a majority vote of the state bar commissioners; and two citizens, who are appointed by the Governor and who are not of the same political party. The term of office for a commission member is four years. No person may serve more than two terms as a member of the commission. The purpose of the Judicial Qualifications Commission is to:

- ◆ Receive and investigate complaints against justices or judges;
- ◆ Conduct confidential hearings to determine whether complaints are justified;
- ◆ Recommend censure, removal or retirement of a judge to the Supreme Court;
- ◆ Investigate applicants for vacancies on the Supreme Court or circuit court bench; and
- ◆ Nominate two or more of the most qualified applicants to the Governor.

<sup>1</sup>Written Complaints Received, Type of Cases and Nature of Claims in Complaints reflect complaints received in that fiscal year.

<sup>2</sup>Complaints Disposed of and Commission Dispositions reflect some complaints received in that fiscal year but not disposed of until the following fiscal year and some complaints that were both received and disposed of in this fiscal year.

<sup>3</sup>JQC does not have the authority to direct a judge to take legal action or to review a case for judicial error, mistake or other legal grounds. Those functions are for the State Supreme Court. Therefore, allegations stemming from a judge's ruling or exercise of discretion do not provide a basis (jurisdiction) for JQC action.
