Our Mission Statement

SDCL 16-1-14: The Supreme Court library shall consist of all constitutions, statutes, session laws, court reports, digests, textbooks, and other legal publications now owned by the state and under the control of the justices of the Supreme Court, or which may hereafter be acquired by purchase, exchange, or otherwise.

The Supreme Court library shall be under the exclusive control and supervision of the justices of the Supreme Court who are hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations regarding its use as they may deem proper.

Federal Depository Status

The library became a federal depository library in 1978. It serves the government needs of the single U.S. Congressional District that encompasses all of South Dakota. The only other depository near it is the State Library, also in Pierre.

The library provides public access to government depository materials, South Dakota law research materials, various legal publications, a Microfiche machine and a printer, and computer terminals with public access to Westlaw.

Remodeling, Renovation, Restoration

In August 2015, the Supreme Court began the process of restoring the Supreme Court Law library to its original splendor. It was the last room in the Capitol open to the public which had not been restored.
